BENEATH THE TREES.

Underneath the trees we sat;
And the breezes they blew;
And the sunbeams they shone;
And the birds they sang sweetly.

Waterfall, winning, wondrous eyes,
Gazing on the land that lies;
Gazing on the land that lies;
Gazing on the land that lies.

Building castles in the air—
How, I wonder, do you care?
How, I wonder, do you care?
How, I wonder, do you care?

There they sat, so sweet and white;
And the sunbeams they shone;
And the birds they sang sweetly;
And the sunbeams they shone.

The City of Boston in Flames!
The Business Streets Swept Away!

Miles of Granite Consumed.
Blowing up Houses to Stop the Fire.

Several Firemen Killed.
And Still Spreading Savagely.

A Sea of Flame.
Estimated Loss Two Hundred and Fifty Million.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 9.—A very extensive conflagration is now raging at the corner of Summer and King streets.

There is no statement in the conflagration. It is the most extensive fire that has visited Boston for twenty years, and is the solid dry portion of the city. It has extended the entire length of Winthrop Square, which embraces A. J. Stewart's, J. M. Beebe's, Anderson, Heath & Co., and Houghton, Perkins & Co.'s stores.

No estimate of the loss can be given. The suburban fire department has called upon. The buildings are principally of granite. A north western wind is prevailing.

The fire is now within two blocks of the Western Union Telegraph Office. The operators are taking up their instruments, preparing to vacate the premises. The fire has been ordered to Boston from adjoining towns, so that if communication with New York is lost, which seems very likely, it will probably be soon restored, certainly at an early hour in the morning if not tonight.

The fire has traveled half a mile through the heart of the city, and is spreading with frightful rapidity.

The fire is progressing towards Broad street, having swept both sides of Summer street to High street and Purchase street. Goods are being removed from stores, every direction in the vicinity of the fire. Fire engines have been telegraphed for from Providence, Worcester and other places.

NEW YORK, NOV. 9.—Intelligence of the destructive conflagration in Boston becoming known at several hotels and places of public resort, there is a great excitement.

MINISTERS.—THE CATHEDRAL CAUGHT.—THE SHIPING TACKLE FIRE.

Boston, Minn., Nov. 9.—The fire is moving up Franklin street, and has reached nearly to Haystack street. The Cathedral building, corner of Devonshire and Franklin streets, is on fire with no hopes of saving it.

The flames are also spreading on the north side of the street. Every kind of vehicle is impressed moving goods. The fire has reached the Broad street wharves south of Congress street, and the vessels are in imminent danger.

12:30 A. M.—The fire still rages. It is feared the entire area from Summer street on the south to Washington street on the north, and the buildings on the east side of Washington street are in imminent danger.

It has been impossible to get any definite returns from the different States. We know that nearly all the States, north and south, have cast their votes for Grant, but by our next issue we imagine the matter will be definitely settled.

We hear some say that the Democratic party killed Greeley by endorsing him at Baltimore. Is it not the wiser conclusion that they killed him by not endorsing him the fifth of November?

Woodhill & Chapin now admit that their last Beecher-Tilton scandal was false. On condition that they are released from prison they propose to abandon New York and return to Cincinnati, where they originated.

It turns out that Greeley has played it game badly, but who ever had any right to pack to play with. Another thing is necessary, with a new label, new departure, a new suggestion, a new platform of reform, free labor, free whiskey and free love.

Homicide Near Yorkville, Tenn.

A Negro man known as Lun Dyer, on the 12th inst. at Yorkville, Tennessee, would almost cover the lead from the body on last Tuesday. We understand the parties were all drunk, and that the negro was nursing white men, generally when Mr. Underwood shot him in the arm. The negro, Lun Dyer, then drew his knife and cut at his assailant, from the effects of which he died.

ATTENTION is directed to the advertisement of Judge Samuel Landrum, agent for Rtna of Hartford, Home of New York, Hartford of Hartford, Phoenix of Hartford, Underwriters agency of New York, Insurance Co. of North America, and Franklin of Philadelphia, Imperial of London, England, and North Missouri of Mason, all No. 1 Companies, that can go through a dozen Boston firms and pay up every time.

Cold Blooded Murder.

We hear of a cold blooded murder recently committed near Moscow—the names of the parties we did not learn. A man who had been at work for Mr. Underwood, was shot and killed by a man named R. H. Anderson, who was with him in the arm. The negro, Lun Dyer, then drew his knife and cut at his assailant, from the effects of which he died.
